Fish Farming International is going digital

The all-new Fish Farming International Digital is just weeks away from launching: it's the most powerful, innovative new tool for your business. Read your daily-updated Fish Farming International anywhere on your phone, tablet or computer, at work or at home.

Fish Farming International was set up in 1973 to serve the new and exciting industrial Fish Farming business. Published each month in a broadsheet newspaper format it has provided valuable, insightful news and features to the fast growing sector, eventually expanding to include all areas of fish, shellfish and mariculture production. Now, Fish Farming International is moving to a new digital format that will work across all devices.

- Weekly newsletter
- Access to fresh, daily content
- Content readable in more than 50 languages
- Access our content anytime on your phone, pad or any other device
- Global coverage of the aquaculture industry: fish farming, feed, research and more

I hope you will enjoy our changes, they are made with our readers in mind.

Yours sincerely,

Rachel Mutter
